Claims 9-12 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 6/30/05. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4, 8 and 16-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Farrar in view of Gilmour.

Farrar teaches a metal reservoir and sub-tank that includes a metal jet pump which is grounded. The inlet to the jet pump is at the bottom of the tank.

Gilmour teaches using a conductive resin to fabricate a jet pump that is grounded in order to relieve static charges.

It would have been obvious to ensure that the jet pump itself in Farrar is conductive in order to properly relieve charges as taught by Gilmour because Gilmour had realized and solved the problem of charges in the jet pump nozzle itself.

Claims 5-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Farrar and Gilmour as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Nagata.

Nagata teaches the fuel pressure regulator and filter arrangement of the applicant's claims.

It would have been obvious to modify Farrar as noted above and to feed the jet pump as taught by Nagata because it was conventional to feed the jet pump from the regulator overflow.

Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Farrar and Gilmour as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of JP ('840).

Japan ('840) teaches the need to make fuel flow lines in the reservoir conductive and grounded and therefore would have made obvious the use of this technique for the inlet line to the pump of Farrar.

Claims 13-15 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
